Morgan's Pomade is one of the oldest independent manufacturers of hair, beard, shave and spa/skincare products in England, first founded in 1873.

Today, Morgan's is a household name in many countries across the world and produce the original Morgan's Pomade, with sales of over one billion jars to date.

Morgan's is the epitome of old-fashioned values and services together with the latest technology and advancements, combining to bring their customers high-quality hair and beauty products, and now also hand sanitiser, soap and sprays.

They are proud to be flying the Made in Britain Flag featured on all their products made from their seaside home in Whitstable, Kent. They endeavour to be kind to the environment by not over-packaging their products and recycle as much as possible. None of the products or ingredients are tested on animals.

Over the years, they have developed an extensive range of grooming products for both men and women with an emphasis on good quality and natural ingredients. They source the best raw ingredients from around the globe. All the products are formulated and designed in house, in their own laboratories, and are rigorously tried and tested to obtain the highest standard possible.

Their links around the world are through their ambassadors who promote and distribute on their behalf. With the exception of 2020, they have a strong presence at the various international trade shows worldwide to promote their brand and form new business partnerships.

In this extraordinary year, they have adapted by distributing their own sanitiser which has been used in their factory for many years. This high-quality range of sanitising products provide instant protection from bacteria and viruses. All their sanitisers also contain aloe vera and glycerine to protect hands from drying and cracking.

They are constantly expanding their range and this year has also seen a new 'Oudh' Pomade with its dark, luxurious, woody fragrance, and an additional Brazilian Orange fragrance to their Matt Paste collection. They now make a bodybuilding mousse for men and an instant beard darkening product. Their ladies range is now extended to suit all hair types and also includes a new spa natural honey range.

An award-winning manufacturer they work in association with is the British Master Barbers Association. They have a robust social network presence and can even provide in-house training with their Barber Academy. In this ever-evolving business, new products are regularly designed and redesigned to endeavour to keep up with hair and beauty trends and developments.

Their mission is to provide the barber and hairdressing industry with the highest quality, British-made products that are instantly recognisable and reliable.
